

THE LATE ELECTIONS

Views of Both Sides on the Twentieth Ward Hurrah.

ONE SAYS THE FRAUD, THE OTHER BOSS

The Defeated Candidates are Taking Legal Advice, and the Fight is Not Yet Over—Other Matters.

There was no little favorable comment over the fact accomplished by THE HERALD yesterday morning, that of giving the results of the elections held in the twentieth ward of this city the evening previous, and the accounts were eagerly read by members of both political parties. The extra edition of THE HERALD was soon exhausted.

The defeat of the People in the Twentieth and Fourth wards was, however, the foremost topic, as it was not thought that the Liberals could make such a showing at either place. The result, however, in both cases, was set down to the carelessness and inattention on the part of the People's voters, who lay back serenely in the belief that their fortress was invulnerable. A number of the members of the People's party who participated in the "hurrah" at the twentieth ward—were seen yesterday by HERALD representatives, and they complained bitterly of what they claimed was most unfair treatment on the part of the chairman, tellers and others.

"Why," said one, "did the chair so far forget ordinary courtesy as to appoint tellers only to act in the capacity of tellers? Even this little incident of itself tends to show which way the wind blows. Another thing, the tellers went around the room, to collect the votes, with their hats in one hand and a bundle of ballots in the other; what was there to hinder anyone, if the teller felt so disposed, from dropping in a handful of ballots instead of one? Why, nothing at all. Don't misunderstand me. I do not say it was done, but there were chances for fraud, and well, you know it was an election. Another thing, I fail to understand this. On the first ballot, the Liberals polled sixty-two, and on the second ballot only forty-nine. It can't be possible, can it, that on the first ballot some of the people accidentally slipped from the teller's hands into their hats?"

A Liberal voter of the ward who was seen, frankly admitted that he and others had been working for several weeks past to capture at least one of the trustees. "We had," he said, "every Liberal in the ward pledged to attend, and I don't believe there were more than half a dozen absent, and they were out there to vote. It is all folly for the People to say that they were beaten unfairly. I am satisfied they are in a majority in the ward—we had our voters out; they didn't; that is the cause of our defeat; that is the reason for their defeat."

Mr. P. L. Williams, who was one of the most active in the matter, was seen later in the day. Asked what, in his opinion, would be the outcome of the election held at the close of the other meeting, he said there was no possible chance for any legal steps to be taken yesterday. "People would not be enabled to remain in possession of the offices. 'The only resort,' he said, 'is for them to hold the schoolhouse by force, and this they will not attempt to do, because it would be the folly of the worst kind.' He did not conceal the fact that he was quite jubilant over the result, and when asked if he considered any unfair methods had been used, he answered 'decidedly not.' In the meantime the defeated candidates for the office of trustee, are seeking legal advice. It is safe to say that the fight is not over.

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. MAIT CULLEN.

At the July board meeting of the Orphan's Home and Day Nursery association, the following was voted to be published in the morning daily papers:

IN MEMORIAM.

Emma J. Thompson, born in Parowan, Iron county, Utah, October 7, 1864.

Married to Matthew Cullen in Beaver, December 19, 1872.

Died in Salt Lake city, June 18, 1889.

Interred in Mount Olivet cemetery, June 21, 1889.

After nearly three months of most intense suffering, borne with heroic fortitude and a brave struggle for life, Mrs. Cullen with great calmness and resignation, laid down the burden and passed over the threshold into the mystic beyond, solving for herself the mystery of death.

To us who knew her, her memory will ever be a sunny spot, her death an irreparable loss.

Strong in her own faith, generous to others of different beliefs, unassuming, modest and very retiring in disposition, true hearted and firm in her friendship, the Orphan's Home and Day Nursery association, with which Mrs. Cullen has been prominently connected from its foundation, loses one of its warmest friends and most generous patrons.

To Mr. Cullen, her aged father and mother, brothers and sisters, of whom she was the household idol.

"In that great closet" of stillness and seclusion, by guardian angels led, Safe from temptation, safe from sin's pollution, She lives whom we call dead."
